Vermont has a child care challenge. Statewide, 77% of infants and toddlers likely to need child care don't have access to high-quality (4- or 5-star) programs and 51% don't have access to any regulated child care programs. Vermont families and child care providers need our support to strengthen resources for our early care and learning programs.

HOW DO WE DEFINE INFANTS & TODDLERS?

Based on state definitions, "infants" are children ages 6 weeks old to 23 months old and "toddlers" are children ages 24 months old (2 years) to 35 months old (almost 3 years).

WHAT DO WE MEAN BY HIGH-QUALITY CHILD CARE?

High-quality early care and learning programs are staffed by consistent, nurturing caregivers educated in early childhood learning and development. In addition to keeping children safe, high-quality programs offer a clean, cheerful environment with outdoor space, and include play-based activities that enrich and promote learning and development, preparing children for success in school, relationships and life.

In Vermont, regulated child care programs can participate in the state's voluntary quality recognition and improvement system, called STARS (Step Ahead Recognition System). Within STARS, child care programs can receive a quality recognition level of 1 to 5 stars. This report refers to programs that have achieved 4- and 5-star recognition levels as high-quality because these levels have been identified in legislation, by partner organizations and in the work of Vermont's Blue Ribbon Commission on Financing High Quality, Affordable Child Care as targets for quality.

Earning stars takes time and there are many quality child care programs in Vermont committed to continuous improvement that have not yet achieved a 4- or 5-star rating. We want to acknowledge these programs and note that this level of detail is not reflected in this particular report. More information about regulated child care programs in Vermont can be found at www.brightfutures.dcf.state.vt.us.
